Lesson 01: Tag Questions

Tag Questions

Question tags are the small questions that come at the end of sentences. We use question tags to check whether something is true or to ask for agreement.

Read the sentences in the passage below and answer the questions that follow:

Nafiz is sitting alone in the field. He looks around and speaks to himself. "Birds are free, aren't they? They can fly at large can't they? They are not the best of creations like man are they? Man is the best creation of God, isn't he? He cannot fly in the sky, can he? Birds are a part of our environment. But they do not pollute our environment, do they? It is man who pollutes his environment, doesn't he? We should not pollute our environment, should we? Our people are not educated. If they are educated they will become conscious, won't they? Our people must be educated, mustn't they? Oh! The sun is already set. I am late for home, am n't I? I have to return now, haven't I?

• Do most sentences in the passage end with a question? Pick out the questions.
• Does an affirmative sentence end with a negative question?
• Does a negative sentence end with an affirmative question?

Now look at the following examples of question tags to get more ideas about them:

1. You don't like me, do you?
2. It isn't raining, is it?
3. You've done your homework, haven't you?
4. I'm not late, am I?
5. You like Chinese food, don't you?
6. You remembered to feed the cat, didn't you?
7. There's a problem here, isn't there?
8. You think you're clever, don't you?

Some Basic Rules for Tag Questions:

• Question tags are used after affirmative and negative sentences, but not after questions.
• We most often put negative tags after affirmative sentences, and non-negative tags after negative sentences. Examples:
  We are busy, aren’t we?
  You haven’t done your assignment, have you?

• Negatives are usually contracted, but full forms are possible in formal speech.
  Example: They promised to repay us by the end of this month, did they not?
• If the main sentence has an auxiliary verb (or non-auxiliary be), this is repeated in the question tag.

• If the main sentence has no auxiliary, the question tag has do.

  Non-auxiliary has may have both forms.
  Examples:
  John has passed the exam, hasn’t he?
  You smoke, don’t you?
  Linda has a set of blue eyes, hasn’t she?
  You have a car, don’t you?

Lesson 02: Rules for Making Tag Questions

Some Basic Rules for Tag Questions:

Positive/negative

Usually, if the main clause is positive, the question tag is negative, and if the main clause is negative, the tag question is positive. For example:

It's cold (positive), isn't it (negative)? And: It isn't cold (negative), is it (positive)?

  He’s a doctor, isn’t he?
  You work in a bank, don’t you?
  You haven’t met him, have you?
  She isn’t coming, is she?

With/without auxiliary verbs:

If the main clause has an auxiliary verb in it, we use the same verb in the tag question. If there is no auxiliary verb (in the present simple and past simple), do / does / did is used (just like when you make a normal question).

There is one exception: the question tag after I am is aren't I.

For example: I'm in charge of the food, aren't I?

  They’ve gone away for a few days, haven’t they?
  They weren’t here, were they?
  He had met him before, hadn’t he?
  This isn’t working, is it?
  I said that, didn’t I?
You don't recognise me, do you?
She eats meat, doesn't she?

With modal verbs

If there is a modal verb in the main part of the sentence, the question tag uses the same modal verb.

They couldn't hear me, could they?
You won't tell anyone, will you?

Examples:

Positive sentences with negative tags:

Negative sentences with positive tags:

Present simple 'be'  We aren't late, are we?
Present simple other verbs  She doesn't have any children, does she?
Present continuous  The bus isn't coming, is it?
Past simple 'be'  She wasn't at home yesterday, was she?
Past simple other verbs  They didn't go out last Sunday, did they?
Past continuous  You weren't sleeping, were you?

Present perfect continuous  He hasn't been running in this weather, has he?
Past perfect  We hadn't been to London before, had we?
Past perfect continuous  You hadn't been sleeping, had you?
Future simple  They won't be late, will they?
Future continuous  He'll be studying tonight, won't he?
Future perfect  She won't have left work before six, will she?
Future perfect continuous  He won't have been travelling all day, will he?
Modals  She can't speak Arabic, can she?
Modals  They mustn't come early, must they?

Imperatives
After imperatives, won’t you? is often used to invite people to do things, and will/would/can/can’t/could you? to tell or ask people to do things.

Do sit down, won’t you?
Shut up, can’t you?

After a negative imperative, we use will you?

  Don’t forget, will you?

Let’s
Let’s have a party, shall you?

There’s
There’s something wrong, isn’t there?
There weren’t any problem, were there?
Negative adverbs

The adverbs never, rarely, seldom, hardly, barely and scarcely have a negative sense. Even though they may be in a positive statement, the feeling of the statement is negative. We treat statements with these words like negative statements, so the question tag is normally positive.

You never care for people, do you? (Not, don’t you?)

There’s little we can do about it, is there?

Nobody phoned, did they?

I barely know you, do I?

You hardly ever came late, did you?
